St. Peter in Zavala between Romanesque and Gothic - about the initiative for recent observation of the possible church construction time period

Summary

Publishing of the revision research of the site with St. Peter's Church in Zavala (Ravno) has not valorised previous papers in a satisfactory manner. Reminder of many earlier reviews of St. Peter's Church was missing. The claim which was not directed to this construction was taken over unverified. Considering the early phase of the site as the early Middle Ages is chronologically unconvincing, because there are solid leads for the late antique phase. The author did not refer to the paper which points to the same conclusion regarding the possible late dating of St. Peter's Church, within the Gothic period, which is reflected in terms of construction and floor plan with rectangular apse.

Keywords: St. Peter's Church in Zavala; Zavala bibliography; wicker sculpture; Gothic layer of churches.
